Agreement, and thereafter only with the prior written permission of the Advertiser. Upon termination of this Agreement or upon the request of the Advertiser, the Influencer will return to the Advertiser all the confidential information, and all copies or reproductions thereof, which are in Influencer's possession or control.

2) This confidentiality clause is not limited by the validity period of this contract and remains valid forever.

3) If the influencer causes losses to the advertiser and its client due to the violation of this confidentiality clause, the influencer shall bear the corresponding compensation liability.

10. Compensation.

1) In full consideration of the Influencer's performance, his / her obligations and the rights granted herein, the Influencer shall be paid the amount agreed upon between the Influencer and Advertiser. This includes any agreed bonus incentives should the Influencer meet the agreed targets. The Influencer will otherwise perform the services at his/her own expense and use his/her own resources and equipment. The Influencer acknowledges that the agreed upon compensation represents the Influencer's entire compensation with respect to this agreement and the Advertiser shall have no other obligation for any other compensation to or expenses or costs incurred by the Influencer in connection with the performance of its obligations under this agreement. If the Advertiser fails to pay any amount payable by it under this Contract, the Influencer shall be entitled to charge the Advertiser interest on the overdue amount.

2) Not with standing anything to the contrary, the influencer liability for underperformance of any obligations under this Agreement shall be limited to situations where there has been a clear failure to perform with reasonable efforts. The influencer shall not be liable for any underperformance due to circumstances beyond her control, including but not limited to changes in market conditions, algorithms, or platform policies.

3) Influencer shall warrant that the advertising service it provides either will not violate any laws, regulations, policies, public morality codes and the regulations, nor will harm the legitimate rights and interests of any third party. Influencer shall have the obligation and responsibility to protect Advertiser's image and interests. If Influencer violates its warranty foregoing, the Advertiser shall be entitled to immediately terminate this Contract and request Influencer to refund all expenses occured. In addition, Influencer shall bear all the responsibilities and compensate Advertiser for all the losses incurred thereby (including but not limited to the other party's loss compensation, fine and any related costs and expenses, including public relations fees, transportation fees, legal costs, attorney's fees, notarial fees, and other reasonable expenses).

4) The influencer shall, in case of failure to create and publish the content within the agreed time and failed to take any remedial measures to publish the content or delay the posting date with the Advertiser's prior consent upon 10 days of such default, return the contract price in full and compensate the advertiser all the losses incurred.

5) Without advertiser written authorization, Influencers cannot contact the partner brands privately and disclose the commission and other details about the cooperation. If the violation is regarded as a serious breach of contract, the advertiser has the right to cancel the cooperation and the influencer should bear 30% of the cooperation commission as a compensation.

6) In the case of a delay in delivery of content or performance by the Influencer, the Advertiser reserves the right to cancel the contract without any liability at any time.

7) If the Influencer fails to return any products or samples provided by the Advertiser after the collaboration ends, the Influencer shall compensate the Advertiser based on the product's full value and the Advertiser has the right to deduct the corresponding amount from the payment due to the Influencer.

8) In the event that the Influencer fails to fulfill any deliverables as per the agreed terms (e.g., missing rights or content deliverables), the Advertiser may deduct a proportionate amount from the agreed payment based on the missing elements.

9) If the Influencer cancels the collaboration after receiving products (but before performing the required deliverables), the Influencer shall be responsible for returning the product(s) and compensating the Advertiser for any incurred costs related to the cancellation, and the influencer should bear 30% of the cooperation commission as a compensation.

11. Material disclosures and compliance with FTC Guidelines.

When publishing a post/status about the advertiser’s products or services, the influencer must explicitly disclose his/her “business relationship” with the advertiser or promotion products, including the fact that the influencer is given any consideration, provided with certain personal experience, or being paid for specific services, in accordance with the media platform policies and FTC guidelines. The aforesaid disclosure shall be clear, prominent, and fully comply with the media platform policies and FTC guidelines, and shall be in line with all statements on the products or services required by the advertiser to be provided by the influencer. Please note that regardless of any space restrictions of the media, the influencer shall be required to make such disclosure, including disclosure via Mandatory Labels or Tag.
